

Through the Te Punanga Haumarū fund. Journey church led a 3 year anti-cyber-bullying campaign. It was well funded, and exceeded all expectations in raising awareness to the serious issue of bullying via social media. It received rave reviews from the local paper, and was held in very high regards by the Government, being one of the few locations invited to continue their campaign into the third year. You can still see some of the work on the 'tab' page above under 'cyber-bullying'.